

PAIGE KING JOHNSON

Paige King Johnson embodies talent that goes the distance, and possesses a dedicated work ethic and bold entrepreneurial spirit. The 23-year old's engaging voice draws attention to "Just Like You," the second single from her debut EP Big Girl World. Johnson's reputation as a gifted young entertainer grew as she performed around her hometown, launched a dinner theater, and recently held her own festival, the Country Yard Party. She has also performed at the Bluebird Café and other noted Music City venues. The three-time Carolina Music Awards winner and Belmont University Alum has opened for James Otto, Neal McCoy, Scotty McCreery and other performers. As a songwriter, Johnson has a flair for portraying life's most precious moments in her music, and then bringing those moments to vivid life with her warm, evocative voice.
